Join the Team: Seeking Operations Director // Bolinas Museum / Full-time
With its 40th anniversary on the horizon, Bolinas Museum is at an exciting time in its history. Over the past decade, the museum has reached new heights, thanks to programmatic growth, increasing attendance numbers, and the critical support of its community. This newly created position reflects this evolution. With at least 3-5 years proven non-profit management and accounting experience, the Operations Director will occupy a vital leadership position and work closely with the Executive Director to develop and implement short- and long-term strategic plans to support growth over the next 5-10 years. The Operations Director will continue to build and manage effective administrative and financial systems, including financial oversight, physical infrastructure, information technology, human resources, and daily operational functions. Qualified applicants will be reviewed in March. To learn more visit: <https://bolinas-museum.org/about/join-the-team/>
